

Adaptive supramolecular polymer systems

Functionalised dipeptides self-assemble into micellar aggregates at high pH. Here I will discuss control over the micellar structures and how the molecules pack within these structures. I will then discuss how interesting and useful materials can be prepared from these micellar building blocks.